

1 Houses of Parliament

The Houses of Parliament are the home of British democracy. The Elizabeth Tower that houses Big Ben is one of the most famous landmarks in London.

5 Tate Modern

Housed in the converted Bankside power station, the Tate Modern is a 'family friendly' modern art gallery, with a free permanent collection as well as specialist exhibitions.

9 Southwark Cathedral

Southwark Cathedral is a beautiful building which dates back to 1220. When you visit, look out for the famous Doorkins Magnificat, the self-appointed Cathedral cat!

2 London Aquarium

Sand Tiger Sharks, Conger Eels, Sting Rays, Venomous Lionfish - they're all part of the impressive selection of sea life at the London Aquarium.

6 St Paul's Cathedral

Built by Sir Christopher Wren after the Great Fire of London, St Paul's is simply awe-inspiring. See amazing views from the dome, but be warned, it's 530 steps to the top!

10 H.M.S. Belfast

Explore the nine decks of this warship to discover what life was like on board during the Second World War.

3 London Eye

The London Eye is the world's largest cantilevered observation wheel, offering wonderful views of London during its 30 minute rotation.

7 Shakespeare's Globe

A replica of the original Globe Theatre with daily behind-the-scenes tours, and a summer season of Shakespeare's plays as Elizabethan audiences would have seen them.

11 Tower of London

Explore a thousand years of history. Visit the Bloody Tower, see where royalty lived - and were executed - and marvel at the Crown Jewels.

4 Royal Festival Hall

Built in 1951 for the Festival of Britain, the venue is host to many international concerts. The complex includes restaurants and bars with great views of the river.

8 Borough Market

After 1,000 years on the same site, Borough Market is one of the largest and oldest food markets in London. Now a hub selling high quality produce and home cooked street food.

12 Tower Bridge

An excellent example of Victorian engineering at its best. Find out how it works and see the Thames through the glass floors of the walkway in the Tower Bridge Experience.
